

Illinois underspends in care of the disabled when compared to national averages